Linear time-invariant theory, commonly known as LTI system theory, comes from applied mathematics and has direct applications in NMR spectroscopy, seismology, circuits, signal processing, control theory, and other technical areas. It investigates the response of a linear and time-invariant system to an arbitrary input signal. Trajectories of these systems are commonly measured and tracked as ...

Until 19th century, linear algebra was introduced through systems of linear equations and matrices. In modern mathematics, the presentation through vector spaces is generally preferred, since it is more synthetic, more general (not limited to the finite-dimensional case), and conceptually simpler, although more abstract. A vector space over a field F (often the field of the real numbers) is a ...

In this section we solve linear first order differential equations, i.e. differential equations in the form $y' + p(t)y = g(t)$. We give an in depth overview of the process used to solve this type of differential equation as well as a derivation of the formula needed for the integrating factor used in the solution process.

Second, a focus on practices (in the plural) avoids the mistaken impression that there is one distinctive approach common to all science—a single “scientific method” or that uncertainty is a universal attribute of science.

Gas Absorption Column Apparatus Item code: 11935 The absorption column is designed to demonstrate the basics of gas absorption in the unit operations of chemical engineering. A glass absorption column is used to allow mass transfer between the absorption liquid and feed gases within the unit.
