

scheduling computer and manufacturing pdf

In computing, scheduling is the method by which work specified by some means is assigned to resources that complete the work. The work may be virtual computation elements such as threads, processes or data flows, which are in turn scheduled onto hardware resources such as processors, network links or expansion cards.. A scheduler is what carries out the scheduling activity.

Manufacturing resource planning (MRP II) is defined as a method for the effective planning of all resources of a manufacturing company. Ideally, it addresses operational planning in units, financial planning, and has a simulation capability to answer "what-if" questions and extension of closed-loop MRP. This is not exclusively a software function, but the management of people skills, requiring a ...

Forecasting is a necessary evil which can vary from "seat of your pants" to in-depth computer applications. The problem is unless your forecasting process is producing the data for planning that results in good returns, you are using the wrong process, OR, you are applying the process in a wrong manner.
